As we are all aware, communicating by traditional non-encrypted, password protected email or fax may not always be secure and/or confidential. However, the speed and convenience of using traditional email or fax often provide real benefits for clients.

While acknowledging the above expressed benefits/concerns of Jack Skehan and Associates, I (we) still would like my (our) request honored and will hold Jack Skehan & Associates harmless should this information arrive at an unintended destination, even if due to an error made by Jack Skehan & Associates when transmitting the data.
